OFFICIAL PRESS OF ITALY IRATE OVER BRIT TALE

ROME, March 8—Italy's official press was aroused to fury today by an article in the London Daily Sketch minimizing the Italian military preparedness and stressing this nation's alleged "vulnerability."

Virginia Gayda, often an official spokesman for Premier Mussolini, characterized the article as "provocative, deliberately offensive and possibly most dangerous."

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The military correspondent of the Sketch said that "Mussolini knows Italy is one of the most vulnerable nations in Europe from sea or air . . . the Italian air force is extremely efficient, especially in training fighter pilots, but there is little it could do against the superior numbers of the Anglo-French air force . . . Mussolini is reported furious against Great Britain (over coal seizures), and there is no use disguising the fact that an ugly situation might occur in a few days. But faith is pinned on the deep and real friendship existing between the two peoples.")

WOMAN PENS LAST NOTE WITH LIPSTICK, LEAPS FROM DETROIT HOTEL

DETROIT, March 8—Using her lipstick to pencil a laconic farewell message on the wall of her room, a woman identified as Miss Joanna Stoddard, about 28, plunged to her death shortly before dawn today from the 17th floor of a downtown hotel. She died instantly.

Her cryptic message said: "Exit smiling."

She had registered Monday giving in a New York address. She was fully dressed, wearing a hat and gloves and carrying a purse when she went to her death. In her room was some artist equipment, and $700 in cash and travelers checks in addition to an elaborate wardrobe.

ARTILLERY FIRE INTENSE; AERIAL ACTIVITY GROWS

Casualties Increasing All Along Line; Front Region Begins To Dry Up

NEWS MEN IN TROUBLE

French Deepen Defenses, Set Tank Traps Far Behind Lines

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY ON THE WESTERN FRONT, March 8—While there is yet no indication of a large-scale change in the existing military stalemate, things today are definitely and rapidly "heating up" along the Western Front line areas.

Activity and casualties are increasing all along the line.

An illustration of this is seen in the fact that three army newsreel men, formerly Paris newsreel photographers, ran into trouble yesterday, one was killed and two were gravely wounded. Their names are being withheld at present pending notification of their families.

Although the front region is drying rapidly, the rivers are still over their banks and the terrain ranges from deep slop to heavy, spongy mud.

But today artillery fire can be heard constantly in place of the sporadic firing that prevailed during recent months.

The work of deepening the French defenses is going forward at full blast again and trenches, tank traps and other fortifications are being constructed miles behind the front.

With the return of fine weather, the French troops have become "full of beans again" — as the English say — and they are raring to go.

There is now almost constant aerial activity.

FARM HAND ENDS OWN LIFE AFTER KILLING GIRL, 9

MANSFIELD, March 8—After luring nine-year-old Marjorie Gamble from school, Theodore Smith, 27-year-old farm hand employed by the child's father, shot and killed her before he ended his own life, Richland County authorities reported today.

The girl's body, nearly nude, was found in Smith's bedroom on the Gable farm near Mansfield. She had been shot in the chest. Smith, a bullet wound in his head, was found in the living room.

Coroner Hugh C. Winbiger said the farm hand apparently had attempted to assault the child, but she had fought off his advances.

Smith was wanted at home because his successor.

WIFE OF FORMER MAYOR GRAHAM DIES SUDDENLY

Stricken by a sudden heart attack, Mrs. Maye Ruth Graham, 56, wife of former Mayor Will J. Graham, died Thursday at 9:30 p.m. at the Graham home, 350 East Mount Street. Mrs. Graham, active in church and social circles in Circleville, had been in apparent good health when she was stricken.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: By a strange coincidence, just as this dispatch from London was received, a Reuters (British) dispatch from Stockholm stated it had been learned that direct discussions between Russian and Finnish representatives were not occurring in Stockholm, but "elsewhere.")

British authorities also insisted that London has received no request to mediate at present.

They stated, however, that the fact it was "strongly" reported that Finnish officials went to Stockholm indicates that Finland may be ready to discuss peace terms if a reasonable basis can be found.

TRADE TREATY WINS FAVOR OF PROBING GROUP

WASHINGTON, March 8—The administration's house approved resolution extending the reciprocal trade treaty law for three years was favorably reported without amendment by the senate finance committee today.

Leaders hoped to bring the legislation before the senate Monday, but pressure for action on the pending agriculture bill may necessitate laying the trade treaty measure aside temporarily after it is formally brought in.

R. A. F. PLANES CROSS POLAND

Daring Craft Goes Over Enemy Territory In 10-Hour Journey

LONDON, March 8—Carrying out the longest aerial reconnaissance since the European war began, British Royal Air Force planes roared over Poland during the night, it was announced officially today.

The British planes visited Western Poland and flew over the city of Posen, the announcement said, adding that the flight marked the first time during hostilities that British planes have penetrated the Polish territory seized by the Reich.

It appeared that last night's reconnaissance excursion, the third successive British aerial night-time expedition over German territory, was Britain's reply to the constantly increasing aerial activity that is marking the waning of winter weather.

MARCY BLAMES MIGRANTS FOR RELIEF WORRY

Pickaway County Director Appears At Two-Day State Confab

MECHANIZATION CITED

Return Of Many Southern Residents To Their Homes Discussed

Migrant farm workers and the mechanization of agriculture were two of the biggest problems confronting rural and county relief organizations, D. H. Marcy, relief director of Pickaway County, told the annual two-day meeting of the Ohio Welfare Conference Thursday in Columbus.

Addressing the 1,000 relief workers gathered for the opening session, Marcy declared that non-residents, particularly families from Kentucky and West Virginia, migrate by the dozens during harvest time.

"A couple of years ago," he related, "I made a study of this problem and found that 50 percent of our folk on relief and WPA were not born or raised in Pickaway County. An investigation revealed that a majority of the undesirable problems were occurring in this class."

Marcy stated that since his survey more than 200 persons were moved back to their legal residence after temporary relief had been granted.

Labor Displaced

Marcy said that authoritative sources informed him that tractors alone had displaced 1,500 man-hours of labor per year in Pickaway County. Although the depression halted to some extent the mechanization of farming methods, unemployment in rural communities cannot be considered a temporary problem, he said.

"It must be considered as a permanent problem," he emphasized.

Marcy also recommended the placing of responsibility for hospitalization and burial on the townships.

"The present system requires too many contracts to place a patient in the hospital," he said, "with the resulting bills paid from too many funds. Since the money all comes from the tax-payer, why break it down into various funds?"

Marcy was selected to present the relief viewpoint of the rural communities. The metropolitan counties' view was put forward by Joseph Sweeney, Cleveland, Cuyahoga County Budget commissioner.

Sweeney also recommended the placing of relief on a permanent basis as a means of diverting relief crisis in the future. He asked the conference to give consideration to a plan placing the management of all relief—aid for the blind, aged, children, and direct relief—under one head.

SKIT OFFERED AS GROUP ENTERTAINS LUTHERANS

Using songs and pantomime the first group of contestants in the Lutheran Brotherhood "Value to The Community Contest" presented the case of the "employees" Thursday night.

Each member of the group presented the value of his type of employment to the community and the theme of "a happy worker is a good worker" ran through the presentation.

The group that will follow at the next meeting of the Brotherhood will be the "employers". "Farmers" and "professional men" will be the final group presentation after which the judges will make the award to the group that has been able, through their skit, to show that they have the greatest value to the community.

"What is your stand on the China question?"

C. A. C. TOURNEY UNDER WAY AS 10 TEAMS MEET

One Forfeit Declared As Jeffersonville Fails
To Make Appearance

SEVEN TILTS FRIDAY EVE

Outstanding Clubs Play
In Second Round Of
Independent Event

The Circleville Athletic Club independent basketball tournament moved into its second round Friday after five contests were conducted Thursday evening. A forfeit was granted to one team—the Purina Feeds—when the Jeffersonville Merchants failed to appear.

Scores of Thursday's contests follow:

Wallace Bakery 33, Adelphi Flyers 29.

Model Dairy, Columbus, 52, Western Auto Supply 23.

Caskey Cleaners 35, Cramer Drugs, Columbus, 33.

Columbus Tramps 37, John Deere Tractors 31.

Stout's Pure Oils 46, Thurston Rams 27.

Several of the teams, notably the Model Dairy after a slow start, the Caskey Cleaners who have added Junior Gregg, Ashville ace; Wallace's Bakery, strengthened by addition of Whitey Davis of the Circleville team, and Stout's Pure Oils who defeated a better than average Thurston team, showed strength. The Columbus Tramps turned in a victory, but were hard-pressed by the scrapping John Deere youngsters.

Several outstanding performances greeted the small crowd of fans present for the lidlifters, among them being Davis' floor game for the Wallace club and Conway Stonerock's last half shooting; the shooting of Lane, Russell and Reeves for the Model Dairy and Bowshier for the Western Auto Supply; the play of Junior Gregg and Ankrom for the Caskey Cleaners and Stillwagon for the Cramer Drugs; scoring by Beasley, former Columbus North High star, and Hugh Lynch for the Columbus Tramps, Negro quintet, and the play of the entire Stout Pure Oil crew against Thurston. The final game was held up for a short time while the Rams came from Lancaster where they won a hard-fought 21-19 game from the Lancaster Red and White team in a Fairfield County tournament. This team showed class, but tired permitting the Pure Oils to go to town.

Games scheduled Friday evening include:

6:30: Wallace Bakery vs. Stone's Grill, Chillicothe.

7:15: Caskey Cleaners vs. Leader A. C., Columbus.

8:00: Gosnell Funeral Home, Columbus vs. Hillsboro Panthers.

8:45: Newark Gasco vs. Stout's Pure Oils.

9:30: Eshelman Feeds vs. North Lewisburg Merchants.

10:15: Model Dairy, Columbus, vs. Chillicothe City Club, Chillicothe.

11:00: Purina Feeds vs. Federal Glass, Columbus.

Without a single exception these games should be highly interesting and closely contested.

Medwick, Camilli Only Unsigned Athletic Aces

By Lawton Carver

NEW YORK, March 8—With Outfielder Joe Di Maggio headed from the scullery of his San Francisco eating emporium toward the New York Yankee training camp at St. Petersburg, Fla., the two outstanding baseball holdouts as of today are Joe (Muscles) Medwick and Dolph Camilli. These holdouts are, as a matter of fact, extremely unimportant, for sooner or later all baseball players sign up.

They sign up for the very good reason that most of them are paid good salaries and, moreover, couldn't make much doing anything else. Furthermore they are avaricious even beyond the imagination of ordinary, workaday citizens.

As witness Ken Keltner of the Cleveland Indians and Joe Glenn of the St. Louis Browns, among others, who have had the audacity temerity and downright gall to apply for unemployment insurance between baseball seasons.

That's why all ball players sign their contracts even when they feel they are underpaid. They love a buck too much.

Getting back to Messrs. Muscles Medwick and Adolph Camilli, we wouldn't presume to say what they should be paid for their six months of toil for the Cardinals and Dodgers respectively. We always maintain that a ballplayer is worth all he can get.

We know too, that he has to get it while he can, before old age, a broken leg, shortness of breath, failing eyesight, or general debility overtakes him.

However, we are pretty sure that Medwick and Camilli will be signed up, in camp, working hard and complaining about everything in general, as all baseball players do, before the season arrives on April 16.

It just so happens that Outfielder Medwick and First Baseman Camilli might pull their respective teams into the World Series.

Medwick probably is—as many insist—the best ball player in the National League. Camilli is one of the best.

The difference between what their clubs want to pay them and what they are demanding is a matter of $1,000 or so in each case according to reports. Briefly, Medwick will settle for about $18,000, and Camilli for $14,000 and we can go ahead and forget about it all as we very probably will do anyhow.

BUDDY WALKER RATED AS NO. 10 CONTENDER

COLUMBUS, March 8—Jack "Buddy" Walker, generally recognized as Ohio's leading heavyweight fighter, today was ranked by a national boxing magazine as No. 10 in the list of challengers for Joe Louis' crown.

Rated above the Columbus fighter, in order, were Arturo Godoy, Tony Galento, Bob Pastor, Tommy Farr, Johnny Paycheck, Lee Saypol, Red Burman, Gunnar Barland and Roscoe Toles.

Walker will fight again in Cleveland next Wednesday night, opposing Tom Kenealy, young Chicago heavyweight.

SOVIET DEMAND FOR HUGE AREA PROVES DRASIC

Swedes Fear All Other Scandinavians May Be Hurled Into War

It appeared clear that Sweden was making her feverish mediation efforts in a desperate attempt to prevent intervention of Britain and France on behalf of Finland, since such a move might be feared, and the strict neutrality so far observed by Germany in the Russo-Finnish conflict.

The report regarding possible intervention by the Western Powers was published by the newspaper Berlinske Tidende, which said that according to unverified advices the Western Powers demanded the right to send their troops through Sweden to Finland's aid under article Sixteen of the League of nations covenant.

Assurance Doubted

Renewed assurances that Berlin was remaining aloof from the Russo-Finnish conflict and would continue Germany's policy of neutrality toward this war evidently failed to ease the fears of the northern capitals.

In addition, one dispatch said that consternation arose in Helsinki over the drastic nature of Russia's reported peace terms and that Finnish officials were "surprised" that Sweden had been persuaded to accept the role of intermediary in transmitting such terms.

Russia was said to have made these demands:

1—Cession of the Carelian Isthmus, including Viborg (Viipuri) and the Mannerheim Line defenses.

2—Cession of the region north of Lake Ladoga, including the city of Sortavala.

3—Cession of large portions of Finnish Lapland, including Petsamo Harbor and the entire Petsamo area.

4—Concessions on the fortified peninsula of Hangoe.

Messages from Oslo stated that Sweden was making a "final attempt" to prevent intervention of the Western Powers and that in this effort the Swedish government was meeting increasing resistance from Helsinki.

According to the Berlinske Tidende the Finns now oppose a truce or armistice with Russia "because military help from the Western Powers seems to be assuming a more definite character."

Field Marshal Manerheim, however, was reported to have stated that Finland cannot hold out against the Russians much longer unless outside aid is received.

Negotiators Remain

Two Finnish negotiators, Foreign Minister Voina Tanner and former President Pehr Svinhufvud, were reported remaining in Stockholm to continue the negotiations, and Russia's envoy to Sweden, Mme. Alexandra Gollontai, was representing the Soviet side.

NIGHT WATCHMAN TRAPS BURGLARS IN ELEVATOR

COLUMBUS, March 8—Three burglar suspects were trapped and held for police today when a night watchman in a downtown building stalled an elevator in which the trio was riding with loot taken from a safe.

The men were held by police for investigation. They gave their names as Edward Marsh, 29, Durwood Jones, 30, and Charles Jackson, 28. Police said the men had a sack containing $13, a sledge hammer and a crowbar.

Charles Redman, the watchman, told police he investigated when he heard the elevator running. He opened the elevator door on the fourth floor and that automatically stopped it between the first and second floors. Then Redman called police, who took the men into custody.

HAROLD MOSIER FILES PETITION FOR GOVERNOR

COLUMBUS, March 8—Former Congressman-at-Large Harold G. Mosier, of Cleveland, today became the first candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination to file his petitions with Secretary of State Earl Griffith.

Mosier said he had submitted petitions bearing the signatures of 5,000 voters in 50 counties and that he would augment them with an additional 5,000 that would include names from every county in the state.

Six other Democrats, including former Gov. Martin L. Davey, who have announced that they, too, will seek the nomination, have until 6:30 p.m. next Friday to file.

Observers on shore said the plane dropped six bombs aimed at the tournament as soon as they can be obtained.

Daring Craft Goes Over Enemy Territory In 10-Hour Journey

Baltic Sea port of Stettin, and that when they were over Polish territory the lights of Poznan could be seen from a point miles away.

Huge quantities of leaflets, printed in Polish, were dropped by the planes.

Meanwhile, an explosion was heard during the night off the British east coast and reports to London stated an unidentified vessel was on fire some miles at sea.

29 Italians Safe

This report followed by about an hour the arrival at an east coast port of a lifeboat carrying 29 crew members—three of them wounded—of the Italian vessel Amelia Lauro, 5,335 tons, which was bombed and set on fire last night some miles off shore.

Whether the later reports referred to the Italian vessel or some other ship was not immediately established, and there was no definite announcement regarding identity of the plane which bombed the Amelia Lauro.

The "Farmer's Day" celebration, meanwhile, is regarded as the administration's opening shot in a campaign to keep the farm vote in the Democratic column.

It is significant that Farley is the only avowed presidential candidate on the program. Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, who also speaks, explained that farm leaders chose Farley as one of their speakers.

Wallace said the farm spokesmen wanted a "city man" on the program because you need one to get the agricultural legislation enacted," and picked Farley as that man.

SEALED ORDERS GIVEN TO HUGE BRITISH LINER

Seamen Say That Strike
Was Discussed After
Trip Started

HUGE GUARD PROVIDED

New York To Spend $1,000
Each Day Protecting
Queen Elizabeth

NEW YORK, March 8—An unprecedented concentration of waterfront police today kept watch over the majestic Queen Elizabeth and her sister refugees from the European war, the Queen Mary and Normandie, all snugly and safely berthed in New York's peaceful harbor.

It was meanwhile disclosed by Capt. J. C. Townley, who brought the world's largest vessel safely across the submarine-infested, mine-strewn Atlantic, that not until the $30,000,000 Queen Elizabeth was at sea and sealed orders were opened was it learned that her destination was the United States.

Members of the skeleton crew of 378 who were given shore leave last night said there were mutterings of a "strike" aboard when they surmised after leaving Clydebank, Scotland, that the Queen Elizabeth was actually off for America. They had been given to understand when signing on that they were off for merely a routine coastal "shakedown" cruise to Southampton, they claimed.

18 Crew Members Dropped

The crew met with Capt. Townley who granted their demands for 30 pounds extra bonus each according to several of the seamen. But some members of the crew, 18, according to one crew member, refused to undertake the perilous ocean crossing and were put off at Greenock, Scotland, from where the Queen Elizabeth sailed Saturday. A stand-by crew of 100 to 150 volunteers will remain behind in the United States to patrol the big ship and keep the machinery in shape and the others will be returned to England.

Great curiosity was aroused by the anti-mine device on the Queen Elizabeth. This was comprised of several strands of heavy, electrified cables strung around both sides of the 1030 foot long vessel. The newly developed device is known as a "Gauss" in tribute to the Swedish scientist who devised it. It was believed to be Great Britain's answer to the magnetic mines sown in British waters by the Germans. As explained by Capt. Townley, the heavily charged electric cables set up an electric field about the ship which neutralizes or counter-acts the normal magnetic pull of the steel hull. It is this magnetic pull which ordinarily detonates the magnetic mines.

No Enemies Sighted

No submarines or ships of any other kind were sighted. Capt. Townley said. The Queen Elizabeth, painted a dull-gray and with all its portholes blacked out, was given a naval convoy of four destroyers on the first day out. And then it was left on its own to rely on its possible top-speed of 32 knots or better to out-run any lurking submarines.

Playing host to her royal visitors which in addition to the Queen Elizabeth, Queen Mary and Normandie at present include the Scythia and Mauretania, will cost New York $1,000 a day. This will go mostly for the pay of 115 policemen guarding the vessels around the clock.

OVER EIGHTEEN MILLIONS DUE UNDER AAA PLAN

COLUMBUS, March 8—Approximately 150,000 Ohio farmers will receive $18,500,000 in benefit payments under the 1939 AAA farm program, Elmer F. Kruse, chairman of the Ohio AAA committee, announced today.

The total, of which more than $17,250,000 has already been paid, represents an increase of about $10,000,000 over the 1938 payments, Kruse said.

The bulk of the payments went to farmers for planting within general and special soil-depleting acreage allotments and for performing soil-building practices. These conservation payments amounted to $11,240,836. Adjustment payments were made to wheat, corn sugar beet growers.

About 60 percent of all Ohio farms were under the 1939 AAA program, Kruse stated.

HEER TO OFFER HIS ASSISTANCE TO EX-GOVERNOR

Franklin County Chairman
Will Not Be Candidate,
He Declares

MAY OPPOSE SAWYER

Rumors Heard That Marker
May Call Aspirants To Agree On One Man

COLUMBUS, March 8—Walter

F. Heer, chairman of the Franklin County Democratic executive committee, will back ex-Gov. Martin L. Davey in his campaign for the party's gubernatorial nomination, he announced today.

Heer, who had been frequently mentioned as a gubernatorial possibility himself, turned down requests that he enter the primary race in which seven candidates are already announced.

The Franklin County committeman issued his denial of candidacy at his headquarters yesterday. On a nearby table were petitions for Davey for visitors to sign.

Meanwhile, it was rumored that Heer might be a candidate for Democratic national committeman from Ohio in opposition to Charles Sawyer, of Cincinnati, who is seeking re-election.

In state Democratic circles it was understood that James R.
Marker, former state highway director and a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, would soon propose that candidates other than Davey "go into conference" to agree on one candidate to oppose the former governor.

Marker's proposal was understood being considered because it was believed that in a field of more than two candidates Davey very likely would win the nomination, possibly by a minority vote.
Some leaders, because of the unrest within party ranks, also were understood to believe that Davey could not be elected if nominated and that his name on the ballot would hurt the state and county tickets.

Triumph Through Surrender

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Newman Campbell
(The International Uniform
Lesson on the above topic for March 10 is Matthew 26:30-56,
the Golden Text being Matt.
25:39, "Not as I will, but as Thou wilt.")

"AND WHEN they had sung a hymn, they went out into the Mount of Olives." That was the ending to last week's lesson. Only twice in the four gospels and in the Acts of the Apostles is singing mentioned—both occasions at night, in Acts 15:25, it is recorded that Paul and Silas sang in prison.

Today's lesson is the saddest in the gospels, recording, as it does, our Lord's agony in the garden of Gethsemane and His arrest.
After Jesus and his disciples had hung the hymn they went toward the Mount of Olives, to the garden of Gethsemane, where Jesus left eight of His apostles, saying,
"Sit ye here, while I go yonder and pray." Taking only Peter, James and John, He went farther into the garden, and as they went, Jesus "began to be sorrowful and full troubled."

"My soul is exceedingly sorrowful, even unto death: abide ye here, and watch with me," He told them. Then He went farther and fell on His face and prayed: "My Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass away from me; nevertheless, not as I will,
but as Thou will."

Finds Disciples Asleep

Going back to His disciples He found them asleep. Even their love for Him could not keep them awake. It must have hurt Him to see them sleeping when He was so troubled. "What, could ye not watch with Me one hour?" He asked Peter. These very best friends of His surely could not have realized that this was the last night they would have Him with them as He had been or they could not have slept.

Christ realized their weakness and lack of knowledge, for He said to them, "Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation:
the spirit is indeed willing,
but the flesh is weak."

A second time He left them, praying. "My Father, if this cannot pass away, except I drink it, Thy will be done." Again returning to the disciples He found them again asleep, and left them once more to pray in the same words. Then He said to His still sleeping companions, "Sleep on now, and take your rest: behold, the hour is at hand, and the Son of Man is betrayed into the hands of sinners."

Almost immediately, however,

He aroused the men by saying,
"Arise, let us be going: behold,
he is at hand that betrayeth Me."

Commentators think He must have seen lights and heard a disturbance as Judas with soldiers and many others came to ward them.

OPEN LETTERS

TO COUNCILMEN

OFFICIALS: I was pleased to note that you followed recommendations by persons who had studied the situation when you voted to change the system of "through" streets in the city's limits.

Several streets that have been labeled as "stop" thoroughfares should never have been marked in such a manner, while some that were not "stop" routes certainly should have been. This action is truly a step forward in the interest of better motoring in Circleville. If your program of education on better highway travels continues. It is imperative now that you have all the streets properly marked so that autoists will know just what they should do when driving over the various streets. Careful patrol for educational purposes is another important angle to the traffic question. The ordinance regulating truck speed in the city limits is another one of importance, and so is that concerning parallel parking on Main Street, one of the city's busiest highways, if not the busiest, and at the same time one of the most important. Main Street has provided Circleville and Pickaway County motorists with parking headaches for many years, but no solution has ever been worked out. Now parallel parking will be attempted, and I hope that it answers the problem. Several years ago council was within a single vote of decreeing parallel parking on all state highways, which would have included Court Street, but that action failed. Autoists must be careful to remember that parallel parking will become law on Main Street April 5 while parking on Court Street will remain as it is at present.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

SOME POLITICIANS take the view that the Democrats used excellent judgment in out-maneuvering the Republican attempt to delay the G.O.P. national convention until after the corresponding Democratic affair.

Of course, the theory is that the party which convenes last is in a position to profit by any mistakes its rivals may have made in the choice of their presidential ticket and the adoption of their platform. Ordinarily, this probably is sound reasoning. Still, in the past the Republicans always have taken a chance on going to bat first and the Democrats haven't always won at the polls by any means.

So it's possible that the order of the two conventions doesn't make much difference in the long run.

Nevertheless, this time Republican Chairman John D. M. Hamilton and his fellow national committee had a fancy for yielding precedence to the Democrats. It was obvious that they wanted to see what the latter would do before going ahead with their own G.O.P. presidential and vice presidential nominations.

But the Democrats preferred otherwise. They evidently agreed that the last convention-holders are at an advantage over the first ones. Therefore they virtually served notice that they proposed to out-wait the G.O.P. They succeeded in doing it. The Republicans picked June 24 as their date.

The next day Democratic Chairman James A. Farley chose July 15 for his crowd's.

MATTER OF OPINION

However, there also are politicians who think the Democrats would have done better to let the Republicans have it their own way. They argue that the Democratic committee should have said, "All right; we're not afraid of you fellows. If you want to see what we do, we've no objection. We can lick you, anyway."

This set of politicians contend that such a policy would have given an impression of Democratic super-confidence, which they believe would have had a favorable psychological effect upon plenty of voters.

Instead, said politicians assert that the Democrats have hinted at a modicum of timidity, thus strengthening G.O.P. morale by enabling the Republicans to remark, "Oh, well, if you birds are so scared of us, hold your old convention whenever you please. We can lick YOU, anyway."

Which of these opposing contentions is the more reliable is problematic. Maybe election day will test them respectively.

BALLYHOO IN WASHINGTON

I wouldn't say that the Republican national committee's recent meeting in Washington was more cheerful than the Democratic committee's meeting, shortly preceding it, but certainly it was more enthusiastic—noisier.

The Democrats were cheerful enough, but not so ebullient as the Republicans.

Most likely that was to have been expected.

"We hold our ground," was about all the Democrats were in a position to announce. The Republicans were in a position to charge the enemy's entrenchments, screeching.

A defense isn't as thrilling as an attack, in the very nature of things.

VICE PRESIDENTIAL CHANCES

It's commented on Capitol Hill that this year's Democratic vice presidential nomination may be considerably more valuable than ordinarily.

If President Roosevelt runs again or if first place on the ticket goes to Burton K. Wheeler or Paul V. McNutt, for instance, the vice presidency won't signify so much. But suppose Cordell Hull or John N. Garner should be chosen? Both of these possibilities are in the 70's. It's conceivable that neither one could live out a full White House term. Then, in would come the vice president.

VICE PRESIDENTIAL CHANCES

There's a good deal of speculation relative to Republican vice presidential candidacies but very little as to the Democrats'. Political experts talk about them, though. They look ahead—to death and everything.

of others and their own safety quite realize that they are being cruelly offensive. Surely most drivers need only to be reminded that to be safe as well as courteous, both on the highway and in the city, bright lights must be dimmed for approaching vehicles.

TO CITIZENS

FOLK: Last spring you helped finance two Circleville projects and helped members of the police department obtain some needed equipment when you purchased tickets for the Policeman's and Fireman's Ball conducted for the first time by the police and fire departments working with the Kiwanis Club. You will be asked again this spring to support the undertaking by purchasing tickets to the Second Annual Ball. The event has been scheduled for April 24, and it will be held in Memorial Hall. Kiwanians need money for their summer health camp for boys, firemen need cash to guarantee that their Christmas toy repair fund will be a success, and policemen need money to buy more equipment for their department. All of you should get behind the project.

CIRCUITEER.

TO AUTHORITIES

OFFICIALS: I hope that you will soon be able to clear up the series of petty thefts being perpetrated in Circleville and near the city. I know that you are doing everything you can to trace down the persons responsible for housebreaking, car entering and numerous other minor crimes that have been causing a lot of concern in recent weeks. Congratulations to Sheriff Charles Radcliff for running down the youths who took a number of batteries from an Ashville garage. This effort was appreciated.

TO MONDAY CLUB

LADIES: Your Golden Jubilee celebration last Monday evening provided one of the finest programs offered in Circleville in many, many years. It is too bad that many more of Circleville's residents could not have been present to enjoy the entertainment. Persons in charge of details for the event are to be congratulated for the parts they played. I hope that the Monday Club enjoys many more years of success.

CIRCUITEER.

TO EVERYONE

FRIENDS: Circleville and Pickaway County are in the midst of the Lenten season, which culminates on March 24 when Easter Sunday is observed. Everyone should attend his Church, or if he is not attached to any definite congregation he should attend somewhere. Circleville and Pickaway County ministers have arranged excellent programs for observance of the season and it behooves all of you to participate in these rites. Special sermons, special music and pantomimes will be offered between now and Easter Sunday, and I hope that all churches will be filled from this time on. Don't let the end of the Lenten season stop your attendance either: attend your Church at each opportunity.

DIET AND HEALTH

Measuring Success of Cornea Grafting

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

I AM ASKED, "Have the operations for transplantation of healthy eye tissue into blinded eye tissue been successful?"

Sometimes they are completely successful; sometimes moderately successful, even in good hands.

The only cases in which the operation is tried are those where the cornea, the clear window in the front of the eye, is made opaque by inflammation and scar tissue. The opaque tissue is replaced by a transplant of clear corneal tissue from a healthy eye.

It is a rule that in order to "take," transplants must come from an animal of the same species. Therefore, the eye surgeon cannot use the cornea from one of the lower animals. It must come from another human.

Where It's Found

Where does the eye surgeon find such tissue? We have sentimental newspaper stories of a mother who is willing to give her eye for her blinded baby, but such sacrifices are not necessary. There are many blind people whose blindness is due to disease at the back of the eye. These eyes must come out, but the front, the cornea, is perfectly healthy. Such are the donors the eye surgeons use.

A case which I find reported as completely successful was done under the following circumstances. In India a woman had lost vision due to an opacity of the cornea. Another Hindu woman was blind in one eye as the result of a couching operation for cataract done by a native doctor. Cataract is so common in India and eyes are destroyed by quacks in this way so often that it is a fine field for donors.

The situation was, in effect, that the back of the eye was diseased while the front part, which the blind patient in this case wanted, was perfectly clear. The transplant was done with complete success.

Becoming Popular

Castroviejo, of New York, who has had a large experience in this field of work, says that corneal transplantation is becoming increasingly popular, and that the results already obtained are sufficiently encouraging to justify its inclusion among the routine surgical procedures of the oculist. One of the main drawbacks, he says, is the scarcity of donor material, which is easy to understand. He points out, however, that a good many eyes, the corneas of which could be used for transplantation, are wasted because of lack of cooperation between oculists in a community. I think this last remark makes a good point.

"Jerry says you were quarreling with Al," St. Clair announced.

"I was a personal quarrel," I told him, stopping on the bottom step. "I shouldn't have said anything about it. It doesn't affect the rest of you."

"Oh, yes, it does! I'm sorry, Bill, but you've got to tell us what it was about. You've got to clear yourself—if you can."

"I—I can't tell you."

There was a sharp collective intake of breath.

"What do you mean?" snapped St. Clair. "Don't you know what's happened?"

"Easy!" expostulated Jerry, who had sobered surprisingly. "He's been upstairs. He didn't hear you. Forget what I said about him and — and Al." His voice was rising in pitch. "It doesn't mean a thing. It really doesn't."

I took the last step slowly and mechanically. "What doesn't mean a thing? What's this I don't know about?"

"It's Al." St. Clair turned and pointed through the door toward the court. Even St. Clair, master of most any situation, was upset. "I found him out there by the lily pond—lying—stabbed through the heart!"

Muriel Benson, who with frightened brown eyes had been staring at me from the parlor doorway, gave a weak, far-away cry and collapsed. It was as though a taut string holding her had broken.

Muriel and I, only a year ago, had been engaged to be married. Jerry had won her from me, but it was still a shock to hear me accused of murder.

BEAUTY SOFTENS SORROW

So it is only human to wish to comfort those who bear the burden of grief.

That is why we send flowers to funerals—to tell the living that our thoughts and sympathies are with them.

Flowers say the things our tongues are too awkward to utter.

A beautiful flower can convey more comfort than a thousand words.

NEW FIRE TRUCK ARRIVES TO PROVIDE PROTECTION IN RURAL AREAS

NINE DISTRICTS JOIN TO OBTAIN $5,775 ENGINE

Chief Talmer Wise Outlines Plan Of Operation In Case Of Blaze

VOLUNTEERS IMPORTANT

Each Township Has Set Up Own Organization To Aid In Fighting Flames

With the arrival Thursday of the new fire truck purchased jointly by nine Pickaway County townships, the fight for rural fire protection will be successfully culminated when the truck is tested and examined Monday by the underwriters' inspectors.

The movement for the purchase of the truck was started last September following the fire on the Evans farm on Ringgold Pike, Washington Township. Realizing the complete lack of fire protection in the rural townships, the four townships adjoining and surrounding Circleville sponsored the plan of cooperatively buying a fire truck to be housed in Circleville and to service the four townships.

Prior to that time the fire company was not allowed to make a run outside the city without the assurance of payment of $25 for the run. The delay proved dangerous in many instances. Under the new plan, service will be rendered immediately with the greatest possible protection being offered.

Old Pump Broken

At the time of the September fire, the pump on the old truck broke when the difficulty of pumping water from a nearby stream placed too great a burden on the truck's pumping system. The city council refused to appropriate money for its repair or replacement and fire protection to the townships was cut to a minimum.

What started, then, as a four township movement was soon taken up by others. All the townships clamored for protection despite the protests of the Circleville Fire Department that some of the townships were too far from the city and that the distance to be covered by the truck would give a blaze an added advantage.

What started as a project among four townships became a movement involving nine and the Board of County Commissioners finally added $1,500 to the fund for the purchase of the truck.

Township Right Upheld

A bombshell was dropped into the plan when an inspector of the state examiner's office declared the entire project to be illegal despite the previous ruling of Prosecuting Attorney George Gerhardt on its legality. The question of the legality of the project was then handed to the attorney general and the state examiner in Columbus. Both upheld the right of the townships to enter and become parties to a joint movement of that nature.

Under the present setup the truck is not owned by the townships nor can any of the townships claim part ownership in the truck or any of the equipment. The truck is owned by the Volunteer Fire Protective Association and the money that each township has contributed for the purchase of the truck and the equipment plus the upkeep and the necessary insurance is their share of the cost of purchase of fire protection.

Operation of the truck will be in the hands of one member of the Circleville Fire Department who will take the truck on the run and operate the pumps during a blaze. The firefighting will be in the hands of the volunteer firemen that have been organized in each township.

Pumps Flexible

The 50 firemen in each township have been given orders to take with them when called 10 gallons of water. This plus the 200 gallons in the new truck's tanks can be used immediately until a source of water to fight the fire is found. Pumps on the new truck can be operated to

HOME ACCIDENT TOLL AHEAD OF AUTO TRAGEDIES

COLUMBUS, March 8—Fatal home accidents, which have increased every year since 1935, caused 261 more deaths in Ohio in 1939 than motor vehicles, Dr. R. H. Markwith, state health director, reported today.

Fatal accidents around the home show a 40 percent increase during the five-year period, he stated, and accounted for 29 percent of all accident fatalities during the period. Last year they caused 39 percent, or three percent more than motor vehicles. They show a definite trend in a most undesirable direction.

Motor vehicles caused 11,177 deaths during the five-year period, or 36 percent of the total, he said. There was a decline every year except in 1936. December and then October led other months in the number of traffic fatalities, of which there were 1,908 in 1939.

In general, fatal accidents have decreased 10 percent; from 6,081 in 1935 to 5,498 in 1939. Most fatal accidents occurred in July, with December, the bad motor month, second.

Occupational accidents caused only six percent of the total of 30,685 deaths, while public accidents of a non-motor vehicle character accounted for 27 percent. Cause of the other two percent was not listed.

pump from 15 to 500 gallons of water per minute in accordance with the situation.

The total cost of the truck and the equipment is $5,775.

The purchase of the truck has insured better feeling and closer cooperation between Circleville and the surrounding townships, Fire Chief Talmer Wise said.

"Those townships know that the city's department will be on the job and the quibbling over the money to make runs while a fire is doing untold damage has been removed. There will be better community feeling and greater good will."

The truck was purchased from the Seagrave Corporation of Columbus. It is mounted on a Ford chassis of a one and one-half ton truck and powered by a 95 horsepower Mercury motor producing a top speed of 65 miles per hour.

Equipment on the truck includes a 500-gallon pump, a 200-gallon water tank, 800 feet of two and one-half inch hose, 200 feet of one and one-half inch hose, two fog nozzles, three ladders, two Indian pump tanks, four salvage covers, and many miscellaneous items.

The fire truck that has been purchased by the city from the Seagrave Corporation and which will be delivered within 60 days is similar to the present township truck.

Cooperating in the purchase of the truck were Circleville, Pickaway, Washington, Jackson, Wayne, Scioto, Muhlenberg, Harrison and Walnut Townships.

POLICE SEARCH FOR MURDERER OF AGED WOMAN

COLUMBUS, March 8—The South Side brick house in which Miss Alice Lauterbach, 75, lived alone and in which her brutally beaten body was found yesterday was searched for clues as to her slayer today.

Coroner Edward E. Smith, who performed an autopsy on the body, said Miss Lauterbach had been criminally assaulted before her death. The body, naked and bloody, was found in the living room of the house by neighbors who broke in when they became alarmed at her unappearance.

Detective Skt. C. C. Cole, head of the homicide squad, and Detective Clem Owens said they planned to comb the neighborhood for suspects. Cole admitted, however, that they "didn't have a thing to work on." He expressed the belief the murder was the work of a "sex fiend."

Police records disclosed that Miss Lauterbach was similarly attacked in August, 1934. At that time she suffered a fractured jaw and other injuries but recovered.

Detectives said the attack-slayer gained entrance to the house by prying open a downstairs window.

The tip came to police late last night and the telephone call was traced to Santa Monica.

"Do you know Judy Garland?" asked a male voice.

"Yes," was the reply.

"Well, she's going to be kidnaped tonight," the informant snapped and hung up.

Acting quickly, police assigned three units of men to patrol duty at the star's house, while detectives were stationed inside.

Miss Garland, surprised at the appearance of officers, said she had received no threats.

CAR OF 1915 VINTAGE GETS ITS NEW PLATES

WILMINGTON, March 8—With the boast that every part is as good as new and she's still running on the same tires" C. M. Vickers of Milland stepped up to the clerk and purchased his license tags for his 1915 roadster. Vickers has all the tags that he bought for the roadster and there's 25 years worth, never a year without them. The car is jacked up when not in use, but she is still running on the original rubber. The old time features immediately make the car the center of interest when Vickers drives it, but the brass trimmings are the things that get the smiles.

OFFICIAL PRESS OF ITALY IRATE OVER BRIT TALE

ROME, March 8—Italy's official press was aroused to fury today by an article in the London Daily Sketch minimizing Italian military preparedness and stressing this nation's alleged "vulnerability."

Virgilio Gayda, often an official spokesman for Premier Mussolini, characterized the article as "provocative, deliberately offensive and possibly most dangerous."

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The military correspondent of the Sketch said that "Mussolini knows Italy is one of the most vulnerable nations in Europe from sea or air . . . the Italian air force is extremely efficient, especially in training fighter pilots, but there is little it could do against the superior numbers of the Anglo-French air force . . . Mussolini is reported furious against Great Britain (over coal seizures), and there is no use disguising the fact that an ugly situation might occur in a few days. But faith is pinned on the deep and real friendship existing between the two peoples.")

WOMAN PENS LAST NOTE WITH LIPSTICK, LEAPS FROM DETROIT HOTEL

DETROIT, March 8—Using her lipstick to pencil a laconic farewell message on the wall of her room, a woman identified as Miss Joanna Stoddard, about 28, plunged to her death shortly before dawn today from the 17th floor of a downtown hotel. She died instantly.

Her cryptic message said: "Exit smiling."

She had registered Monday giving a New York address. She was fully dressed, wearing a hat and gloves and carrying a purse when she went to her death. In her room was some artist equipment, and $709 in cash and travelers checks in addition to an elaborate wardrobe.

MARCY BLAMES MIGRANTS FOR RELIEF WORRY

Pickaway County Director Appears At Two-Day State Confab

MECHANIZATION CITED

Return Of Many Southern Residents To Their Homes Discussed

Migrant farm workers and the mechanization of agriculture were two of the biggest problems confronting rural and county relief organizations, D. H. Marcy, relief director of Pickaway County, told the annual two-day meeting of the Ohio Welfare Conference Thursday in Columbus.

Addressing the 1,000 relief workers gathered for the opening session, Marcy declared that non-residents, particularly families from Kentucky and West Virginia, migrate by the dozens during hard times.

"A couple of years ago," he related, "I made a study of this problem and found that 50 percent of our folk on relief and WPA were not born or raised in Pickaway County. An investigation revealed that a majority of the undesirable problems were occurring in this class."

Marcy stated that since his survey more than 200 persons were moved back to their legal residence after temporary relief had been granted.

Labor Displaced

Marcy said that authoritative sources informed him that tractors alone had displaced 1,500 man-hours of labor per year in Pickaway County. Although the depression halted to some extent the mechanization of farming methods, unemployment in rural communities cannot be considered a temporary problem, he said.

"It must be considered as a permanent problem," he emphasized.

Marcy also recommended the placing of responsibility for hospitalization and burial on the townships.

"The present system requires too many contracts to place a patient in the hospital," he said, with the resulting bills paid from too many funds. Since the money all comes from the tax-payer, why break it down into various funds?"

Marcy was selected to present the relief viewpoint of the rural communities. The metropolitan counties' view was put forward by Joseph Sweeney, Cleveland, Cuyahoga County Budget commissioner.

Sweeney also recommended the placing of relief on a permanent basis as a means of diverting relief crisis in the future. He asked the conference to give consideration to a plan placing the management of all relief—aid for the blind, aged, children, and direct relief—under one head.

SKIT OFFERED AS GROUP ENTERTAINS LUTHERANS

Using songs and pantomime the first group of contestants in the Lutheran Brotherhood "Value to The Community Contest" presented the case of the "employees" Thursday night.

Each member of the group presented the value of his type of employment to the community and the theme of "a happy worker is a good worker" ran through the presentation.

The group that will follow at the next meeting of the Brotherhood will be the "employers". "Farmers" and "professional men" will be the final group presentation after which the judges will make the award to the group that has been able, through their skit, to show that they have the greatest value to the community.

INTERFERENCE FAILS TO STOP PRESS ENDERLIN

The ring of falling silverware greeted the efforts of "Press" Enderlin, to conduct the program at where he presented a quiz among the members based on 20 questions which he submitted.

Above the din of the falling silver and the hub-bub of voices which were part of a well-organized plot to keep Enderlin from presenting his program, Karl Mason was declared the winner of the quiz which had as the prize one ton of coal from Enderlin's coal yard.

One Forfeit Declared As
Jeffersonville Fails
To Make Appearance

SEVEN TILTS FRIDAY EVE

Outstanding Clubs Play
In Second Round Of
Independent Event

The Circleville Athletic Club independent basketball tournament moved into its second round Friday after five contests were conducted Thursday evening. A forfeit was granted to one team—the Purina Feeds—when the Jeffersonville Merchants failed to appear.

Scores of Thursday's contests follow:

Wallace Bakery 33, Adelphi Fliers 29.

Model Dairy, Columbus, 52, Western Auto Supply 23.

Caskey Cleaners 35, Cramer Drugs, Columbus, 33.

Columbus Tramps 37, John Deere Tractors 31.

Stout's Pure Oils 46, Thurston Rams 27.

Several of the teams, notably the Model Dairy after a slow start, the Caskey Cleaners who have added Junior Gregg, Ashville ace; Wallace's Bakery, strengthened by addition of Whitey Davis of the Circleville team, and Stout's Pure Oils who defeated a better than average Thurston team, showed strength. The Columbus Tramps turned in a victory, but were hard-pressed by the scrapping John Deere youngsters.

Several outstanding performances greeted the small crowd of fans present for the lidlifters, among them being Davis' floor game for the Wallace club and Conway Stonerock's last half shooting; the shooting of Lane, Russell and Reeves for the Model Dairy and Bowshier for the Western Auto Supply; the play of Junior Gregg and Ankrom for the Caskey Cleaners and of Stillwagon for the Cramer Drugs; scoring by Beasley, former Columbus North High star, and Hugh Lynch for the Columbus Tramps, Negro quintet, and the play of the entire Stout Pure Oil crew against Thurston. The final game was held up for a short time while the Rams came from Lancaster where they won a hard-fought 21-19 game from the Lancaster Red and White team in a Fairfield County tournament. This team showed class, but tired permitting the Pure Oils to go to town.

Games scheduled Friday evening include:

6:30: Wallace Bakery vs. Stone's Grill, Chillicothe.

7:15: Caskey Cleaners vs. Leader A. C., Columbus.

8:00: Gosnell Funeral Home, Columbus vs. Hillsboro Panthers.

8:45: Newark Gasco vs. Stout's Pure Oils.

9:30: Eshelman Feeds vs. North Lewisburg Merchants.

10:15: Model Dairy, Columbus, vs. Chillicothe City Club, Chillicothe.

11:00: Purina Feeds vs. Federal Glass, Columbus.

Without a single exception these games should be highly interesting and closely contested.

AMANDA WHIPS SUMMIT OUTFIT

Fairfielders Have Easy Time With Foe; Marion Opponent Next

Amanda's fine court team advanced to the semi-finals Thursday evening in the Central District Class B tournament at Westerville by winning an easy 32-14 victory over the Summit team from Licking County. The victim of the Amanda club had defeated a highly favored Gambier team last week and was picked to make a much better showing against Trevor Jones' Fairfield County titlists.

The Amanda boys held a 15-6 lead at halftime. Ted Clevenger, smooth working forward, caged four buckets for eight points to tie with Barney Young who also accounted for eight.

In the other quarter-final contest, Marion St. Mary's thumped Liberty Union, 38-17, and showed plenty of power. Marion is the team that eliminated Ashville, Pickaway County champion.

Semi-final games are Saturday afternoon, Amanda and Marion St. Mary's meeting at 1 o'clock and the winners of tonight's games meeting an hour later. The finals will be played at 8 p.m. Saturday.

The District Class A teams resume competition Friday evening, Aquinas playing Marion Harding at 7:30 and Columbus South and Central tangling at 8:45. The losers will play a consolation game at 7:30 Saturday night as a preliminary to the finals at 8:45.

SOVIET DEMAND FOR HUGE AREA PROVES DRASIC

Swedes Fear All Other Scandinavians May Be Hurled Into War

It appeared clear that Sweden was making her feverish mediation efforts in a desperate attempt to prevent intervention of Britain and France on behalf of Finland, since such a move might, it was feared, end the strict neutrality so far observed by Germany in the Russo-Finnish conflict.

The report regarding possible intervention by the Western Powers was published by the newspaper Berlinske Tidende, which said that according to unverified advices the Western Powers demanded the right to send their troops through Sweden to Finland's aid under article Sixteen of the League of nations covenant.

Assurance Doubted

Renewed assurances that Berlin was remaining aloof from the Russo-Finnish conflict and would continue Germany's policy of neutrality toward this war evidently failed to ease the fears of the northern capitals.

In addition, one dispatch said that consternation arose in Helsinki over the drastic nature of Russia's reported peace terms and that Finnish officials were "surprised" that Sweden had been persuaded to accept the role of intermediary in transmitting such terms.

Russia was said to have made these demands:

1—Cession of the Carelian Isthmus, including Viborg (Viipuri) and the Mannerheim Line defenses.

2—Cession of the region north of Lake Ladoga, including the city of Sortavala.

3—Cession of large portions of Finnish Lapland, including Petsamo Harbor and the entire Petsamo area.

4—Concessions on the fortified peninsula of Hangoe.

Messages from Oslo stated that Sweden was making a "final attempt" to prevent intervention of the Western Powers and that in this effort the Swedish government was meeting increasing resistance from Helsinki.

According to the Berlinske Tidende the Finns now oppose a truce or armistice with Russia "because military help from the Western Powers seems to be assuming a more definite character."

Field Marshal Mannerheim, however, was reported to have stated that Finland cannot hold out against the Russians much longer unless outside aid is received.

Negotiators Remain

Two Finnish negotiators, Foreign Minister Voina Tanner and former President Pehr Svinhufvud, were reported remaining in Stockholm to continue the negotiations, and Russia's envoy to Sweden, Mme. Alexandra Gollontai, was representing the Soviet side.

NIGHT WATCHMAN TRAPS BURGLARS IN ELEVATOR

COLUMBUS, March 8—Three burglar suspects were trapped and held for police today when a night watchman in a downtown building stalled an elevator in which the trio was riding with loot taken from a safe.

The men were held by police for investigation. They gave their names as Edward Marsh, 29, Durwood Jones, 30, and Charles Jackson, 28. Police said the men had a safe containing $13, a sledge hammer and a crowbar.

Charles Redman, the watchman, told police he investigated when he heard the elevator running. He opened the elevator door on the fourth floor and that automatically stopped it between the first and second floors. Then Redman called police, who took the men into custody.

HAROLD MOSIER FILES PETITION FOR GOVERNOR

COLUMBUS, March 8—Former Congressman-at-Large Harold G. Mosier, of Cleveland, today became the first candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination to file his petitions with Secretary of State Earl Griffith.

Mosier said he had submitted petitions bearing the signatures of 5000 voters in 50 counties and that he would augment them with an additional 5000 that would include names from every county in the state.

Six other Democrats, including former Gov. Martin L. Davey, who have announced that they, too, will seek the nomination, have until 6:30 p.m. next Friday to file.

SEALED ORDERS GIVEN TO HUGE BRITISH LINER

Seamen Say That Strike
Was Discussed After
Trip Started

HUGE GUARD PROVIDED

New York To Spend $1,000
Each Day Protecting
Queen Elizabeth

NEW YORK, March 8—An unprecedented concentration of waterfront police today kept watch over the majestic Queen Elizabeth and her sister refugees from the European war, the Queen Mary and Normandie, all snugly and safely berthed in New York's peaceful harbor.

It was meanwhile disclosed by Capt. J. C. Townley, who brought the world's largest vessel safely across the submarine-infested, mine-strewn Atlantic, that not until the $30,000,000 Queen Elizabeth was at sea and sealed orders were opened was it learned that her destination was the United States.

Members of the skeleton crew of 52 who were given shore leave last night said there were mutterings of a "strike" aboard when they surmised after leaving Clydebank, Scotland, that the Queen Elizabeth was actually off for America. They had been given to understand when signing on that they were off for merely a routine coastal "shakedown" cruise to Southampton, they claimed.

18 Crew Members Dropped
The crew met with Capt. Townley who granted their demands for 30 pounds extra bonus each according to several of the seamen. But some members of the crew, 18, according to one crew member, refused to undertake the perilous ocean crossing and were put off at Greenock, Scotland, from where the Queen Elizabeth sailed Saturday. A stand-by crew of 100 to 150 volunteers will remain behind in the United States to patrol the big ship and keep the machinery in shape and the others will be returned to England.

Great curiosity was aroused by the anti-mine device on the Queen Elizabeth. This was comprised of several strands of heavy, electrified cables strung around both sides of the 1030 foot long vessel. The newly developed device is known as a "Gauss" in tribute to the Swedish scientist who devised it. It was believed to be Great Britain's answer to the magnetic mines sown in British waters by the Germans. As explained by Capt. Townley, the heavily charged electric cables set up an electric field about the ship which neutralizes or counter-acts the normal magnetic pull of the steel hull. It is this magnetic pull which ordinarily detonates the magnetic mines.

No Enemies Sighted
No submarines or ships of any other kind were sighted. Capt. Townley said, "The Queen Elizabeth, painted a dull-gray and with all its portholes blacked out, was given a naval convoy of four destroyers on the first day out. And then it was left on its own to rely on its possible top-speed of 32 knots or better to outrun any lurking submarines.

Playing host to her royal visitors which in addition to the Queen Elizabeth, Queen Mary and Normandie at present include the Scythia and Mauretania, will cost New York $1,000 a day. This will go mostly for the pay of 115 policemen guarding the vessels around the clock.

OVER EIGHTEEN MILLIONS DUE UNDER AAA PLAN

COLUMBUS, March 8—Approximately 150,000 Ohio farmers will receive $18,500,000 in benefit payments under the 1933 AAA farm program, Elmer F. Kruse, chairman of the Ohio AAA committee, announced today.

The total, of which more than $17,250,000 has already been paid, represents an increase of about $10,000,000 over the 1933 payments, Kruse said.

The bulk of the payments went to farmers for planting within general and special soil-depleting acreage allotments and for performing soil-building practices. These conservation payments amounted to $11,240,836. Adjustment payments were made to wheat, corn sugar beet growers.

About 60 percent of all Ohio farms were under the 1933 AAA program, Kruse stated.

HEER TO OFFER HIS ASSISTANCE TO EX-GOVERNOR

Franklin County Chairman
Will Not Be Candidate,
He Declares

MAY OPPOSE SAWYER

Rumors Heard That Marker
May Call Aspirants To
Agree On One Man

COLUMBUS, March 8—Walter F. Heer, chairman of the Franklin County Democratic executive committee, will back ex-Gov. Martin L. Davey in his campaign for the party's gubernatorial nomination, he announced today.

Heer, who had been frequently mentioned as a gubernatorial possibility himself, turned down requests that he enter the primary race in which seven candidates are already announced.

The Franklin County committee chairman issued his denial of candidacy at his headquarters yesterday. On a nearby table were petitions for Davey for visitors to sign.

Meanwhile, it was rumored that Heer might be a candidate for Democratic national committee man from Ohio in opposition to Charles Sawyer, of Cincinnati, who is seeking re-election.

In state Democratic circles it was understood that James R. Marker, former state highway director and a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, would soon propose that candidates other than Davey "go into conference" to agree on one candidate to oppose the former governor.

Marker's proposal was understood being considered because it was believed that in a field of more than two candidates Davey very likely would win the nomination, possibly by a minority vote.

Some leaders, because of the unrest within party ranks, also were understood to believe that Davey could not be elected if nominated and that his name on the ballot would hurt the state and county tickets.

Triumph Through Surrender

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Newman Campbell
(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for March 10 is Matthew 26:30-56. The Golden Text being Matt. 26:39, "Not as I will, but as Thou wilt.")

"AND WHEN THEY HAD SUNG A HYMN, THEY WENT OUT INTO THE MOUNT OF OLIVES." That was the ending to last week's lesson. Only twice in the four gospels and in the Acts of the Apostles is singing mentioned—both occasions at night, in Acts 15:25, it is recorded that Paul and Silas sang in prison.

Today's lesson is the saddest in the gospels, recording, as it does, our Lord's agony in the garden of Gethsemane and His arrest. After Jesus and His disciples had sung the hymn they went toward the Mount of Olives, to the garden of Gethsemane, where Jesus left eight of His apostles, saying, "Sit ye here, while I go yonder and pray." Taking only Peter, James and John, He went farther into the garden, and as they went, Jesus "began to be sorrowful and full troubled."

"My soul is exceedingly sorrowful, even unto death: abide ye here, and watch with me," He told them. Then He went farther and fell on His face and prayed: "My Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass away from me; nevertheless, not as I will, but as Thou wilt."

Finds Disciples Asleep
Going back to His disciples He found them asleep. Even their love for Him could not keep them awake. It must have hurt Him to see them sleeping when He was so troubled. "What, could ye not watch with Me one hour?" He asked Peter. These very best friends of His surely could not have realized that this was the last night they would have Him with them as He had been or they could not have slept.

Christ realized their weakness and lack of knowledge, for He said to them, "Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit is indeed willing, but the flesh is weak."

A second time He left them, praying. "My Father, if this cannot pass away, except I drink it, Thy will be done." Again returning to the disciples He found them again asleep, and left them once more to pray in the same words. Then He said to His still sleeping companions, "Sleep on now, and take your rest: behold, the hour is at hand, and the Son of Man is betrayed into the hands of sinners."

Almost immediately, however,

He aroused the men by saying, "Arise, let us be going; behold, he is at hand that betrayeth Me." Commentators think He must have seen lights and heard a disturbance as Judas with soldiers and many others came toward.

No Anger for Judas
At no time did Jesus ever show any anger or resentment against Judas Iscariot, even when He was betrayed by Him. When Judas asked the Lord, "Lord, is it I?" when Jesus said someone at the table would betray Him, He answered simply, "Thou hast said."

Did He know how bitterly Judas would repent His great crime? Probably. It seems to us that Judas was the most dreadful criminal of all time in all the world, but the Christ did not condemn even him.

When Judas and a great multitude with him, came to the Garden of Gethsemane, Jesus did not shrink from Him. He waited. Judas said to his companions, "Whomsoever I shall kiss, that same is He: hold him fast." Then when the traitorous kiss was planted on His cheek, with the greeting, "Hail, Master," Christ simply said to him, "Friend, wherefore art thou come?" Then came they and laid hands on Jesus and took Him.

One of the disciples—it was said to be Peter—took his sword and attacked a servant of the high priest, cutting off his ear. Jesus rebuked him, saying, "Put up again thy sword into his place: for all they that take the sword shall perish with the sword. Thinkest thou that I cannot now pray to My Father, and He shall presently give Me more than twelve legions of angels? But how then shall the scriptures be fulfilled?"

To the multitude Jesus said, "Are ye come out as against a chief with swords and staves for to take Me? I sat daily with you teaching in the temple, and ye laid no hold on Me."

"Then," say the scriptures, "all the disciples forsook Him and fled," and the Lord was left alone with His enemies to face trial and an agonizing death.

Would you have left Him thus? Even Peter, who so lately had sworn he would share even death with his Lord, went away with the rest. Verily no man knows what he will do when he's frightened and sorely tried.

OFFICIALS: I was pleased to note that you followed recommendations by persons who had studied the situation
when you voted to change the system of
"through" streets in the city's limits.

Several streets that have been labeled as
"stop" thoroughfares should never have been marked in such a manner, while some that were not "stop" routes certainly should have been. This action is truly a step forward in the interest of better
motoring in Circleville, IF your program
of education on better highway travels continues. It is imperative now that you have all the streets properly marked so that autoists will know just what they should do when driving over the various streets. Careful patrol for educational purposes is another important angle to the traffic question. The ordinance regulating truck speed in the city limits is another one of importance, and so is that concerning parallel parking on Main Street, one of the city's busiest highways, if not the busiest, and at the same time one of the most important. Main Street has provided Circleville and Pickaway County motorists
with parking headaches for many years,
but no solution has ever been worked out.

Now parallel parking will be attempted,
and I hope that it answers the problem.
Several years ago council was within a single vote of decreeing parallel parking on all state highways, which would have included Court Street, but that action failed.
Autoists must be careful to remember that parallel parking will become law on Main Street April 5 while parking on Court Street will remain as it is at present.

RIVERS: There is probably none of us who hasn't been momentarily blinded, and thoroughly angered, by the full glare of headlights on approaching automobiles whose drivers apparently do not seem to realize that they are not only highly discourteous, but are also endangering their own and others' lives by failing to dim.
Particularly panicking are the new high-powered lights with which the latest model cars are equipped, and which cause us to stab at our eyes with hankies and swear loudly. I hesitate to think that the drivers who seem so careless of the eyes of others and their own safety quite realize that they are being cruelly offensive.

Surely most drivers need only to be reminded that to be safe as well as courteous, both on the highway and in the city, bright lights must be dimmed for approaching vehicles.

police and fire departments working with the

TO CITIZENS

FOLK: Last spring you helped finance two Circleville projects and helped members of the police department obtain some needed equipment when you purchased tickets for the Policeman's and Fireman's Ball conducted for the first time by the police and fire departments working with the Kiwanis Club. You will be asked again this spring to support the undertaking by purchasing tickets to the Second Annual Ball. The event has been scheduled for April 24, and it will be held in Memorial Hall. Kiwanians need money for their summer health camp for boys, firemen need cash to guarantee that their Christmas toy repair fund will be a success, and policemen need money to buy more equipment for their department. All of you should get behind the project.

OFFICIALS: I was pleased to note that
you followed recommendations by persons who had studied the situation
when you voted to change the system of
"through" streets in the city's limits.

Several streets that have been labeled as
"stop" thoroughfares should never have been marked in such a manner, while some
that were not "stop" routes certainly
should have been. This action is truly a step forward in the interest of better
motoring in Circleville, IF your program
of education on better highway travels
continues. It is imperative now that you have all the streets properly marked so
that autoists will know just what they should do when driving over the various streets. Careful patrol for educational purposes is another important angle to the traffic question. The ordinance regulating truck speed in the city limits is another
one of importance, and so is that concerning parallel parking on Main Street, one
of the city's busiest highways, if not the busiest, and at the same time one of the most important. Main Street has provided Circleville and Pickaway County motorists
with parking headaches for many years,
but no solution has ever been worked out.

NEW FIRE TRUCK ARRIVES TO PROVIDE PROTECTION IN RURAL AREAS

NINE DISTRICTS JOIN TO OBTAIN $5,775 ENGINE

Chief Talmer Wise Outlines Plan Of Operation In Case Of Blaze

VOLUNTEERS IMPORTANT Each Township Has Set Up Own Organization To Aid In Fighting Flames

With the arrival Thursday of the new fire truck purchased jointly by nine Pickaway County townships, the fight for rural fire protection will be successfully culminated when the truck is tested and examined Monday by the underwriters' inspectors.

The movement for the purchase of the truck was started last September following the fire on the Evans farm on Ringgold Pike, Washington Township. Realizing the complete lack of fire protection in the rural townships, the four townships adjoining and surrounding Circleville sponsored the plan of cooperatively buying a fire truck to be housed in Circleville and to service the four townships.

Prior to that time the fire company was not allowed to make a run outside the city without the assurance of payment of $25 for the run. The delay proved dangerous in many instances. Under the new plan, service will be rendered immediately with the greatest possible protection being offered.

Old Pump Broken

At the time of the September fire, the pump on the old truck broke when the difficulty of pumping water from a nearby stream placed too great a burden on the truck's pumping system. The city council refused to appropriate money for its repair or replacement and fire protection to the townships was cut to a minimum.

What started, then, as a four township movement was soon taken up by others. All the townships clamored for protection despite the protests of the Circleville Fire Department that some of the townships were too far from the city and that the distance to be covered by the truck would give a blaze an added advantage.

What started as a project among four townships became a movement involving nine and the Board of County Commissioners finally added $1,500 to the fund for the purchase of the truck.

Township Right Upheld

A bombshell was dropped into the plan when an inspector of the state examiner's office declared the entire project to be illegal despite the previous ruling of Prosecuting Attorney George Gerhardt on its legality. The question of the legality of the project was then handed to the attorney general and the state examiner in Columbus. Both upheld the right of the townships to enter and become parties to a joint movement of that nature.

Under the present setup the truck is not owned by the townships nor can any of the townships claim part ownership in the truck or any of the equipment. The truck is owned by the Volunteer Fire Protective Association and the money that each township has contributed for the purchase of the truck and the equipment plus the upkeep and the necessary insurance is their share of the cost of purchase of fire protection.

Operation of the truck will be in the hands of one member of the Circleville Fire Department who will take the truck on the run and operate the pumps during a blaze. The firefighting will be in the hands of the volunteer firemen that have been organized in each township.

Pumps Flexible

The 50 firemen in each township have been given orders to take with them when called 10 gallons of water. This plus the 200 gallons in the new truck's tanks can be used immediately until a source of water to fight the fire is found. Pumps on the new truck can be operated to

HOME ACCIDENT TOLL AHEAD OF AUTO TRAGEDIES

COLUMBUS, March 8—Fatal home accidents, which have increased every year since 1935, caused 261 more deaths in Ohio in 1939 than motor vehicles. Dr. R. H. Markwith, state health director, reported today.

"Fatal accidents around the home show a 40 percent increase during the five-year period," he stated, "and accounted for 29 percent of all accident fatalities during the period. Last year they caused 39 percent, or three percent more than motor vehicles. They show a definite trend in a most undesirable direction."

Motor vehicles caused 11,177 deaths during the five-year period, or 36 percent of the total, he said. There was a decline every year except in 1936. December and then October led other months in the number of traffic fatalities, of which there were 1908 in 1939.

In general, fatal accidents have decreased 10 percent; from 6,081 in 1935 to 5,498 in 1939. Most fatal accidents occurred in July, with December, the bad motor month, second.

Occupational accidents caused only six percent of the total of 30,685 deaths, while public accidents of a non-motor vehicle character accounted for 27 percent. Cause of the other two percent was not listed.

pump from 15 to 500 gallons of water per minute in accordance with the situation.

The total cost of the truck and the equipment is $5,775.

"The purchase of the truck has insured better feeling and closer cooperation between Circleville and the surrounding townships," Fire Chief Talmer Wise said. "Those townships know that the city's department will be on the job and the quibbling over the money to make runs while a fire is doing untold damage has been removed. There will be better community feeling and greater good will."

The truck was purchased from the Seagrave Corporation of Columbus. It is mounted on a Ford chassis of a one and one-half ton truck and powered by a 95 horsepower Mercury motor producing a top speed of 65 miles per hour.

Equipment on the truck includes a 500-gallon pump, a 200-gallon water tank, 800 feet of two and one-half inch hose, 200 feet of one and one-half inch hose, two fog nozzles, three ladders, two Indian pump tanks, four salvage covers, and many miscellaneous items.

The fire truck that has been purchased by the city from the Seagrave Corporation and which will be delivered within 60 days is similar to the present township truck.

Cooperating in the purchase of the truck were Circleville, Pickaway, Washington, Jackson, Wayne, Scioto, Muhlenberg, Harrison and Walnut Townships.

POLICE SEARCH FOR MURDERER OF AGED WOMAN

COLUMBUS, March 8—The South Side brick house in which Miss Alice Lauterbach, 75, lived alone and in which her brutally beaten body was found yesterday was searched for clues as to her slayer today.

Coroner Edward E. Smith, who performed an autopsy on the body, said Miss Lauterbach had been criminally assaulted before her death. The body, naked and bloody, was found in the living room of the house by neighbors who broke in when they became alarmed at her unappearance.

Detective Sgt. C. C. Cole, head of the homicide squad, and Detective Clem Owens said they planned to comb the neighborhood for suspects. Cole admitted, however, that they "didn't have a thing to work on." He expressed the belief the murderer was the work of a "sex fiend."

Police records disclosed that Miss Lauterbach was similarly attacked in August, 1934. At that time she suffered a fractured jaw and other injuries but recovered.

Detectives said the attack-slayer gained entrance to the house by prying open a downstairs window.

WILMINGTON, March 8—With the boast that every part is as good as new and she's still running on the same tires" C. M. Vickers of Milland stepped up to the clerk and purchased his license tags for his 1915 roadster. Vickers has all the tags that he bought for the roadster and there's 25 years worth, never a year without them. The car is jacked up when not in use, but she is still running on the original rubber. The old time features immediately make the car the center of interest when Vickers drives it, but the brass trimmings are the things that get the smiles.
